DISCUSSES PLANS OF ORGANIZATION

A. W. McKeand, of Indianapolis, Addresses Seymour Chamber of Commerce on Plans of Work.

LARGE ATTENDANCE OF MEN

Retail Merchants Association Votes to Affiliate as Retail Department of Chamber of Commerce.

A. W. McKeand, of Indianapolis, a member of the Board of Extension of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, was the speaker at the meeting of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce in the city building Thursday evening. He spoke for about thirty minutes and then suggested that he would reply to any question which might be asked about the organization and work of a Chamber of Commerce in a city the size of Seymour. For another hour he was busy replying to questions which were asked. In his remarks he said:

"A city's biggest business is the city itself. A Chamber of Commerce is not a plaything but a business organization. Indiana is dotted all over with grave yards of chambers of commerce, commercial clubs and other business organizations where men did not realize that the organization was a business institution."

There are three fundamentals, he said, that are absolutely necessary in every successful organization. 1. Capital. 2. Program of work. 3. Efficient management. The capital in a commercial organization, he said, consists both of money and of men. Neither one of these will go very far

SNOW, SLEET COLD, 'ND EVERYTHING IS PROMISED

Weather Man Indicates That the End of the Mild, Open Winter Is Close at Hand.

Something entirely new for this winter is promised by the weather man within the next few hours. The weather has been mild and there has been a delightful absence of sleet, snow and ice. But a blizzard which originated somewhere in the Rocky mountains is sweeping eastward and is expected to hit this part of the country in a few hours. Chicago was expecting the arrival of the unwelcome visitor today.

There was a marked change in the temperature over night, and the government thermometer fell about 25 degrees within a few hours' time. The change from the spring-like weather of yesterday to the conditions today is taken as a forerunner of the approaching blizzard.

Arrives in New York.

Lieut. Fred D. Bacon, who has been in service overseas since August 6, telegraphed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bacon, Ewing street, today announcing his arrival at New York City. He says he cannot tell when he will be discharged. Lieut. Bacon enlisted in the service when the war was first declared and was sent to the officers training camp at the coast artillery station at Fortress Monroe, Va. After winning his commission there he was sent to Newport, R. I., for duty. On August 6 he went to England with a convoy and today returned to the United States.

Appreciates Remembrances.

Rev. T. C. Smith, formerly of Seymour, celebrated his seventy-eighth anniversary Feb. 12, at his home at Wolcott, Indiana, where he is pastor of the Baptist church. He writes that he received such a shower of post cards and letters reminding him of the event, that it is impossible to reply to each of them personally, but he wishes all his friends to know that he appreciates their thoughtfulness and their messages of cheer.

Baptist Primary.

Let us have 75 in our department Sunday. We will have our lesson study, missionary story and our closing exercises will be interesting and the superintendent has a souvenir for each one who comes. Bring some one with you. f15d

ANOTHER HIGHWAY BILL PRESENTED

Would Empower Commissioners to Borrow Money to Complete Unfinished Road Contracts.

OF INTEREST TO THIS COUNTY

Four Roads Could be Constructed Under the Provisions—Bill is Passed by the Upper House.

Tucked away in the legislative calendar under the heading of "bills passed in the senate February 13," appears a paragraph relative to a proposed law which is designed to afford relief to counties such as Jackson where contracts for road improvements have been awarded and the bonds sold but the contractors refuse to start the work. The bill which is known as senate bill No. 129 was introduced by Senator Oliver Kline, of Huntington, and would authorize county commissioners to borrow money to complete unfinished public construction when a contractor fails or refuses to complete the work. The bill was passed by the senate, 32 to 8. Senator Kline is a farmer and knows the value of good highways into the main marketing centers. He also feels that when a county or township has voted a bond issue to pay for such improvements they ought to be finished, despite the delay or inability of the contractor.

GEORGE W. FLEENOR DEAD AT HIS HOME NEAR TAMPICO

Death Due to Heart Disease with Which He Had Suffered for Some Time.

George W. Fleenor, of near Tampico died about 1 o'clock this afternoon at his home near Tampico. Mr. Fleenor had been ill for some time with heart disease but his death came as a surprise to his many friends. He was born in Washington county about seventy-five years ago. Mr. Fleenor was married three times, first to Miss Nichols, and after her death to Mrs. Delilah Blair Birge. About seven years ago he was married to Mrs. Emily Fleenor, who survives him. He is also survived by two sons, Ofee Fleenor, of Kokomo, and Elmer Fleenor, of Illinois, two brothers and two sisters. He was a member of The Saints Church. Funeral arrangements will be made later. Mr. Fleenor is a brother-in-law to James Blair, of this city.

HERMION LODGE TO HOLD ANNIVERSARY CEREMONY

Special Program will be Presented Wednesday Night—Two Charter Members are Living.

The fifty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Knights of Pythias will be observed Wednesday, February 19, and Hermion Lodge, in this city, is planning to take proper recognition of the day. The lodge was organized February 19, 1864. Hermion Lodge was instituted in April 1875. It has grown from a small membership to an enrollment of 305 members. Twenty-one members were in the service of their country during the war and a service flag bearing that number of stars is prominently displayed in the lodge room. Of the men who entered the service nine have been discharged and twelve are in the overseas service.

W. G. Geile, past Chancellor Commander, will preside at the meeting Wednesday night. Addresses and musical numbers will be presented and an interesting program has been arranged. Of the charter members, only two—John Goodale and George Rau—are living.

The supreme council of the allied peace delegates holds its meetings in this building, the French ministry of foreign affairs, on the Quai d'Orsay, Paris.

MARION TOWNSHIP FARMERS PLAN FOURTH INSTITUTE

Session Will be Held at Marion Church, Jennings County, on February 22.

R. L. Thompson, of Topeka, and Mrs. Hortense Tapp Moore, of Rockville, will be the speakers at the fourth annual farmers' institute of Marion township, Jennings county, which will be held February 22. At the morning session, the Rev. Chesley Holmes will pronounce the invocation following the singing of "America." Mrs. Moore will discuss "Making for Contentment on the farm," and Mr. Thompson will give an address on "Successful Wheat Production."

At the afternoon session Mrs. Moore will speak in "Child Welfare" and Mr. Thompson will discuss "Marketing Farm Products." A program of songs is also arranged. Officers will be elected and committees will report at the closing session.

O. N. Davis, is the county and township chairman, and he is striving hard to make the meeting the most interesting that has ever been held there.

TRANSPORT FINLAND DOCKS TODAY WITH 3,354 ABOARD

Cruiser Seattle Carrying 156 Officers and Men Also Arrives at Hoboken.

By United Press.

Hoboken, N. J., February 14.—The transport Finland, with 3,354 officers and men, docked here this morning. The Finland left St. Nazaire, February 5.

The cruiser Seattle also docked, carrying 1,561 officers and men, consisting of companies A, B and C and Medical Detachment of the 163rd infantry, 116th supply train, battery C 50th coast artillery; Casual Co. No. 235, thirteen casual officers and 25 naval enlisted men.

The cruiser Charleston, with 1,271 officers and men, came in today. The Seattle brought news of a gale on Monday night that resulted in the death of Seaman Alva M. Powell, Leslie, Ark. A storm flung him against a deck door near the superstructure with such force that he died in several minutes from internal injuries.

The vessel also brought back the body of Howard D. White, a seaman of Kennett, Mo., who died of pneumonia.

ALIEN AGITATORS WANT TO REMAIN IN UNITED STATES

Judge Knox Fails to See Injustice Had Been Made in Orders of Deportation.

By United Press.

New York February 14.—Counsel for 85 alien agitators being held at Ellis Island for deportation left here today for Washington to examine records of the immigration department in a further attempt to save the radicals.

A writ of habeas corpus obtained for them was dismissed by Federal Judge Knox because of lack of any specific proof that injustice or error had been made in the orders of deportation.

EARLY ROBINS RUN CHANCE OF GETTING FROST BITTEN

Blizzard Sweeping Eastward Due to Hit Chicago Today—Heavy Snow and Driving Wind.

By United Press.

Chicago, February 14.—A blizzard, beating its way across the continent, was due here today.

Splitting the country in half yesterday, the storm demoralized wire traffic, almost isolating the western states from the east. A cold night left communication in worse shape, coating wires with ice.

The storm was at its worst in Nebraska, where a heavy snow was driven by 50 mile winds. Passenger trains went through with double headers. Other traffic was interrupted. Livestock losses were expected to be severe. The only feature lacking to make it the worst blizzard there in twenty years was a low temperature. High winds and clinging snow were phenomena in Kansas and Oklahoma, the Dakotas and Minnesota. The storm moved rapidly eastward leaving clearing skies behind.

Weather forecasters here said it would be dissipated in the Great Lakes region.

RAIL COMMUNICATION IS HAMPERED AT LINCOLN

Heavy Wind and Sleet Follows Snowfall of Nearly Two Inches.

By United Press.

Lincoln, Neb., February 14.—Storms that delivered blizzard proportions in central and western Nebraska yesterday moved eastward today but with diminished intensity. Rail communication was greatly hampered. Since midnight no through trains have reached Lincoln on time.

Wire communication west of Hastings, Neb., was prostrated. Wire companies reported miles of poles blown down by the gale.

Nearly two inches of rain with snow flurries fell here during the night, accompanied by a heavy wind. The mercury was slowly dropping today.

LEAGUE OF NATION ADOPTS THE WORLD CONSTITUTION

SCOPE OF TWO GERMAN BILLS SEEMS UNCERTAIN

Some Legislators Think the Object is Achieved and Others See Only "Two Bills."

By United Press.

Indianapolis, February 14.—After a day's work trying to get somewhere with the anti-German language bills, members of the legislature today were having a hard time trying to figure out how far they had gone.

Some members of the house believed they had passed two bills which would eliminate the German tongue from grade schools. Others believed they had merely passed two bills.

Discussion today centered on the point of whether or not the bills passed by the house really barred German. The bill says:

"That all instruction in subjects provided by law, or prescribed by the state board of education in the elementary schools of the state which are subject to provisions of the state school attendance law, shall be conducted in the English language."

Some legislators contended that private and parochial schools would not be effected by the measure. There had been many protests from Lutheran churches and schools against the bill.

Others held that the private and parochial schools would be affected, but that only on the subjects "provided by law or prescribed by the state board of education." This would permit the teaching of religion and other such subjects in a foreign language.

There was a widespread demand among legislators today, especially members of the senate, for straightforward action on the question, by passage of a bill barring all use of the German language in grade schools, public private.

The attitude of the senate was shown when it amended the Van Auker bill, before passage, so that it reads: "Studies taught in high schools shall include Latin or any modern foreign language except German."

WILSON SCHEDULED TO START HOMEWARD JOURNEY TONIGHT

Formal Luncheon to Be Given for Presidential Party in Brest Tomorrow.

By United Press.

Paris, February 14.—President Wilson is scheduled to begin his homeward journey at 10 o'clock tonight when he will leave Paris for Brest on a special train. He probably will sail tomorrow after a formal luncheon given by the mayor of Brest. The George Washington on which the presidential party will return, is reported to have arrived in Brest.

The president's decision to return to France as soon as possible after the adjournment of congress probably will result in French Ambassador Jusserand, Italian Ambassador Celleri and British Ambassador Reading remaining here instead of accompanying him, as originally planned.

TEN DAYS AT SEA

President Wilson Will Be On Voyage That Long.

By United Press.

Washington, February 14.—The army embarkation service estimated today that nine to ten days was the normal running time of the presidential ship George Washington from Brest to this country. On this schedule she should have the president home not later than February 26 provided he leaves Brest by Sunday.

Onions Held at Pier.

By United Press.

New York, February 14.—Discovery that ten thousand one hundred pound bags of onions had been held on a New York pier for two weeks, led commissioner of market, Day, to investigate what is believed to be an attempt to influence the price of the onion market. Part of the onions are in a rotting condition. Officials have been unable to determine their ownership.

PRESIDENT WILSON READS PROVISIONS

Stringent Measures Adopted in Effort to Prevent Future International Conflicts.

ARBITRATION IS EMPHASIZED

Congratulations Pour Into American Embassy Following Final Action on Document.

By United Press.

Paris, February 14.—The first world constitution was made public this afternoon when President Wilson read the draft of the league of nations organization before the general peace congress.

While not containing a provision for any sort of international police force the constitution includes stringent measures designed to prevent future wars. In case any nation makes war without first submitting the questions at issue to arbitration there are the following possible courses open to the league: Severance of diplomatic relations by members of the league with the nations making war.

Economic blockade of the nations refusing arbitration. Recommendation by the executive council for the use of force.

The use of force, however, will leave to each power freedom of action under its constitution to make the necessary declaration of war. The constitution includes a preamble and twenty-seven articles. Congratulations on securing adoption of the constitution, poured into American headquarters today. Members of the league to enforce peace declared that this is "the golden day in the history of the world."

The constitution of the league of nations in part follows:

"Preamble: In order to promote international co-operation and to secure international peace and security by the acceptance of obligations, not to resort to war, by the prescription of open, just and honorable relations between nations, by the firm establishment of the understanding of international law as the actual rule of conduct among governments, and by the maintenance of justice and a scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organized peoples with one another, the powers signatory to this covenant adopt this constitution of the League of Nations.

"Article 1. The action of the high contracting parties under the terms of this covenant shall be effected through the instrumentality of meeting of a body of delegates representing the high contracting parties, of meetings at more frequent intervals of an executive council, and of a permanent international secretariat to be established at the seat of the League.

"Article 2. Meetings of the body of delegates shall be held at stated intervals and from time to time as occasion may require for the purpose of dealing with matters within the sphere of action of the league.

Other articles provide: Third—The executive council shall consist of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, Italy, France, Japan together with representatives of four other states to be chosen. The election of these states shall be made by the body of delegates.

Fourth—The first meeting of the body of delegates and the executive council shall be summoned by the President of the United States.

Fifth—A permanent organization of secretaries shall be maintained at the seat of the league, under the direction of the secretary general.

Sixth—Representatives of the nations when engaged on business of

HELP OF THE PRESS.
Recognition of the assistance that was given the food administration in publicity work in connection with the war time regulations, is made by H. E. Barnard, federal food administrator for Indiana. The press throughout the state aided the food administration in every way it could. Columns and columns of space were devoted to the regulations. All this was done without the thought to compensation. In fact some of the regulations issued by the administration worked to the hardship of the newspapers as they were prohibited from accepting advertising that they had run for years.
The letter of Mr. Barnard is reprinted below because it recognizes the value of publicity:
"In announcing the abandonment, on February 15th, of all formal activities by the Indiana division of the United States Food administration, I want to record again, by written word, my sincere, personal gratitude for the splendid co-operation you have extended to our work. I need not reiterate, except for the purpose of emphasis, the assertion that except through the columns of the newspapers, the people of Indiana could not have been brought to a realization of the magnitude and importance of the work

Rag Apple Aaggie Colantha, 233880, a 4-year-old purebred Holstein cow, bred and owned by the D. W. Field, Farm Company, Montello, Mass., has recently given evidence of her wonderful inherited producing ability by giving 346 quarts of milk during a 7-day official test; the fat contained in this milk being equal to 41.24 lbs. butter. For seven consecutive days this remarkable cow averaged 49 quarts of milk per day; giving on her best day 51 quarts, while during her 30-day test she gave 1,380 quarts, or an average of over 46 quarts. Her butter production for the 30 days was 163.68 lbs., and this record entitles her to second place in the list of highest producers for the 30-day period, the leader being Ormsby Jane Segis Aaggie, known as "the great white heifer," the only cow that ever made two 7 day butter records each over 40 lbs. Rag Apple Aaggie Colantha is in splendid physical condition and still in test, producing around 100 lbs. milk and over 4 lbs. fat per day. Her average daily grain ration is 24 lbs.

they did in producing and conserving food. And the state's proud record is itself sufficient monument to the way this work was done.
"To the newspapers I extend a word of congratulations as well as of thanks. I congratulate them because of the depth of public spirit, of genuinely patriotic devotion to the great cause, that made them something far more influential than mere distributors of the day's news. They were a potent factor in maintaining the morale of the second line of defense, and through their spirit of sacrifice set an admirable pattern for other business and civic institutions to follow.
"I do not desire to embarrass you by lavish compliments, but certainly I do want you to know that I personally, and in behalf of the Indiana division of the United States Food administration feel that you were our most effective and valuable ally, in all this state contributed to the world's food supply, when a food supply spelled success or failure in the greatest adventure of the nation's history."

CONSTRUCTION WORK.
The department of labor has called a conference of governors to discuss methods of stimulating local and private initiative in the industrial readjustment. During the period of war when there was a scarcity of labor and material construction work was opposed unless it was for "war purposes." The government now urges that the opposite position be taken and is encouraging this character of work.
The object, of course, is to furnish employment for the hundreds of men who are left without work during the readjustment period. Governor Frazier, of North Dakota, proposes in his state the creation of a permanent industrial commission which would undertake a program of public works and of state industries with a special drive for home building and farm improvement. In Oregon, Governor Withycome is advocating an extensive road building program and similar proposals are made in other states. Governor Ernest Lister, of Washington, is of the opinion that all the responsibility for furnishing employment for returned soldiers and others should not rest upon the federal government, and that the states and even municipalities ought to co-operate.
Before construction work will become general, however, arrangements will have to be made to keep the cost within reasonable bounds. During the periods of the war the

DEMOCRATS ARE OPPOSED TO REFORMATORY REMOVAL
House Considers Amendment to Locate the Institution at Putnamville.
By United Press.

Indianapolis, February 14.—Since the house has adopted an amendment to the reformatory removal bill which would locate the institution at Putnamville, in connection with the state penal farm, some of the legislators who formerly favored removal have come out in favor of leaving the reformatory at Jeffersonville.
The democrats are making a campaign to have the reformatory left at Jeffersonville on the plea of economy, but it is doubtful if they will be able to procure enough republicans to support their stand to win.
Gov. Goodrich, while withholding all comment on the proposed to locate the reformatory in Putnam county, will agree to the proposal, it is understood. He originally advocated a commission to select and purchase a site and have charge of erecting the new buildings.
According to information from the state farm, it would cost only about $250,000 to erect new buildings to take care of the reformatory inmates and it would not be necessary to spend this amount immediately, as there are facilities there now which are not in use.

THIS BILL WATCHED BY BOARD MEMBERS

Measure Proposes to Increase Salary of County Commissioners to $800 Annually.

CLASSIFICATION IS PROVIDED

Compensation Based Upon Population of County and the Volume of Work Done by Officials.

If a bill which is to be introduced in the Indiana legislature within the next few days becomes a law the three commissioners of Jackson county will receive a substantial increase in salary. The bill, it is stated, was drafted in the office of the state board of accounts and is drawn on the principle that the county commissioners should be paid according to the population of their respective counties and the amount of work which devolves upon them.

The bill follows the classification plan that was first adopted in fixing salaries for the township trustees and which is the basis for the proposed laws fixing the salaries of county auditors, county clerks, and other county officials. The bill divides the counties of the state into ten classes, all of the counties in each class being placed on the same salary basis.

A copy of the bill has been sent to county auditor Luedtke as well as to the other auditors of the state. It is expected that he will show the proposed measure to the commissioners to ascertain if they have any suggestions or recommendations to make before the bill takes final form in the legislature. It contains a provision that it shall be in force and effect immediately upon its passage which means that the present commissioners will receive the benefit of the proposed increased salary.

Under the classification plan Jackson county would be placed in group five and the salary of the commissioners in that class would be $800 a year each. Included in the class with Jackson county are Bartholomew, Boone, Huntington, Clay, Jay, Lawrence, Park, Shelby, Wabash and Wells. The bill contains a clause whereby a county may be transferred to the next highest class or to the next class lower according as it gains or loses in population and the amount of work that falls upon the board of commissioners.

The bill puts Marion county alone in class one and fixes the salary at $3,600 a year. Lake county is in class 2 A where the salary would be $2,500 a year. Class 2 B is also provided and the salary is stipulated at $2,000 a year. The commissioners in the counties in the third class would receive $1,500 a year and those in the fourth class would receive $1,000 a year. As already stated, fifth class counties would be on a basis of $800 a year while the sixth class would receive $700. Counties in the seventh class would be on a $600 basis, eighth class, $500 ninth class, $400, while commissioners in Brown, Ohio and Union counties, which would be placed in the tenth class would receive a salary of $300 annually.

The bill is framed on the theory that the present compensation of the county commissioners is inadequate for the large amount of work which comes within their department and that they could afford to give more time to their official duties if the salary were larger.

John H. Conner spent Thursday in Indianapolis.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.
If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.
Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Do Not Get Careless With Your Blood Supply

Impurities Invite Disease.

You should pay particular heed to any indication that your blood supply is becoming sluggish, or that there is a lessening in its strong and vital force.

By keeping your blood purified, your system more easily wards off disease that is ever present, waiting to attack wherever there is an opening. A few bottles of S. S. S., the great vegetable blood medicine, will revitalize your blood and give you new strength and a healthy, vigorous vitality. Everyone needs it just now to keep the system in perfect condition. Go to your drug store and get a bottle to-day, and if you need any medical advice, you can obtain it without cost by writing to Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 25 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Steam Pressing Preserves the Fabric of Woolens

Our method of pressing clothes by steam is such that the fabric of the woolens is preserved, the colors are brightened and the cloth is given a firmness that is found in new materials. It has been proved that proper pressing and cleaning by the right methods adds to the wearing qualities of the cloth. Money that is spent for pressing is well spent. It is economy and at the same time it adds to the appearance of the suit or dress. It is because our methods are so satisfactory that our business is growing by such leaps and bounds. Satisfaction is guaranteed.

SOCIAL EVENTS

AGENDA CLASS.

The Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Weiler entertained the members of the Agenda Class and friends of the Trinity M. E. Sunday School Thursday evening at the parsonage on South Poplar street. After the regular business session a short program was given which consisted of recitations by Louise and Paul Weiler, readings about Lincoln and his sayings by members of the class, and songs. A social hour and games were enjoyed later, after which a light luncheon was served.

The guests were Misses Grace Miller, Edna Kasting, Maude Ruddick, Bertha Schmidt, Maude Owens, Inez and Irene Pfenning, Edna Hodapp, Mrs. Arthur Livensparger, Mrs. Wm. Weiler and children, C. A. Hemmer and Frank Miller.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Mrs. Louis Surenkamp entertained a number of relatives and friends Thursday evening at her home west of Seymour, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Surenkamp. The affair was a complete surprise to him. The evening was spent with music and games, three tables were at play. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, candy, apples and popcorn were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Surenkamp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Surenkamp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tiemeyer, John Moorman and daughters, Martha and Emma, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Quadde and daughter, Emma, Mr. Kiel, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moorman, Mrs. Alma Moenning, Minnie, Oscar and Frank Quadde.

LE SOIR CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Le Soir Club was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Mildred Bottorff, at Cortland. The members present were Catherine Carnine, Lenore Bennett, Della Tinder and Mildred Bottorff. After the business meeting a pleasant social hour was enjoyed, during which light refreshments were served.

FOR MISS PEGG.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Petterman entertained a number of friends at dinner Thursday evening at their home on South Poplar street in honor of Miss Blanche Pegg, of Indianapolis. Covers were laid for Miss Luella Toms, Miss Ethel Rottman, W. G. Masters, Charles Appel, Willard Miller, the honor guest and Mr. and Mrs. Petterman.

DANCE

Invitations have been issued for a Washington Birthday dance at the Eagle Hall Friday night February 21st. There will be no Valentine Dance tonight.

Due to the fact that the film, "The Naulahka, was lost on the way here from Indianapolis, the high school was unable to have the regular Thursday night picture show. When it was finally decided last night that there would be no chance of the film arriving the disappointed audience left, but in an excellent humor, however, for Prof. Mott slyly suggested that since he had no Charlie Chaplin alternative he might run on the screen a series of pictures of himself and the high school faculty. The joke was generally appreciated and the teachers called for an encore but the pictures were not shown.

THE REV. C. E. WATKINS HEADS THE ROTARIANS

Former Evangelist Well Known Here is Elected Governor of the Eleventh District.

The many friends of the Rev. Charles E. Watkins, of Muncie, were pleased to read today that he had been elected district governor by the Rotarians. He conducted special meetings here at the First Baptist church and acquired a wide acquaintance while in the city. His many friends here congratulate him upon the honor that has come to him by this well known organization of wide-awake boosters.

The following Muncie dispatch is taken from the Indianapolis Star and will be read with much interest by Mr. Watkins' friends:

The Rev. Charles E. Watkins, secretary of the Muncie Y. M. C. A., who was named district governor by the Rotarians at Indianapolis today, is perhaps this city's most widely-known resident. After a successful career as an evangelist he was for a time pastor of the Walnut Street Baptist Church here and has for years been identified with every movement having to do with the civic interests of Muncie, being a member of the leading clubs and other organizations. During the various recent war drives he played an important part, probably more important than any other single individual. His extensive acquaintance enabled him to go into any community and aid in arousing interest.

He is possessed of a magnetic personality, and as president of the Muncie Rotary Club, has accomplished much in the organization's interest. As head of the district, he will give it a live-wire administration.

At present the Rev. Mr. Watkins is head of the organization in Delaware County in charge of the simultaneous evangelistic campaign, a religious drive that is on throughout the entire county, with service nightly in each church. Since this campaign started two weeks ago, up until yesterday noon, when he went to Indianapolis to attend the Rotary meeting he has delivered a noon-day sermon daily and has been heard each night in one of the several churches.

ANOTHER HIGHWAY BILL PRESENTED

Such a law would be of direct benefit to Jackson township inasmuch as approximately $75,000 worth of bonds have been sold for the construction of improvements on the High street road, the Walnut street road, West Second street road and the O'Brien street road. The contracts were awarded for three of the improvements with concrete to the Boone Construction Company, formerly of Lebanon, later of Columbus. The O'Brien street contract for macadam was awarded to James DeGolyer and was taken over by Ewing Shields after Mr. DeGolyer's death. Later Shields went into bankruptcy. The Boone Construction Company have never made any attempt to start its contracts. The work was postponed for a year before the war started and then the shortage of labor and material prevented the construction work.

The bonds for the roads were sold at the time the contracts were awarded and the taxpayers have been paying interest on the bonds without getting any returns from the investment. There is a general demand that the commissioners press the contractors to start the work. At the last meeting of the commissioners the county auditor was instructed to send an ultimatum to the contractors that unless work was started by April 1, the commissioners would readvertise for bids and the bondsmen would be held liable for any difference in the cost of construction.

It was proposed some months ago that the bonds be returned to the purchasers. This, attorneys held, would be impossible as the bonds are widely scattered by this time and there is no way of ascertaining who holds them. On the other hand, it is pointed out, the county was back of the bonds and if they should be recalled, if it were possible, the

Vinol will Stop a Cough and Break Up a Cold

A constitutional remedy that removes the cause by building up the system. These elements contained in Vinol—Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron, Manganese and Glycophosphates—soon create an energy that throws off the cold and prevents its reoccurrence. It has given ninety per cent satisfaction for sixteen years. HERE IS PROOF:

Dunn, N.C.
"I suffered with a chronic cold for four months, coughed day and night. Had to keep on working when I was not able to. I saw Vinol advertised and tried it, and I want to tell you it just cured that cold in a short time. It made me eat and sleep well, better every day."—J. C. Bagley, Dunn, N.C.

Lagrange, N.C.
"For years I suffered with a chronic cough, so I could not sleep nights and continued to lose flesh. My druggist asked me to try Vinol. It cured my cough, I can sleep nights and have gained twelve pounds. Vinol is the best tonic and tissue builder I have ever taken."—W. D. REN, Lagrange, N.C.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

financial standing of the county would be endangered as trouble would likely be encountered in the future is disposing of any bonds of this character. Another obstacle would arise in case the money were to be diverted for any other purpose as there is no law whereby it could be used except for the improvement of the specific roads for which the bonds were issued.

The Kline measure is intended to meet situation of this kind. It would empower the commissioners to borrow money necessary to finish the roads. The only objection to the bill is that it might encourage contractors to abandon contracts awarded to them if they discovered that the bids were too low to permit them to make a profit. On the other hand such a law would be an incentive to commissioners to see that bondsmen are responsible before they are accepted.

Mrs. F. P. Brown and little son went to Indianapolis this morning for a several days' visit with relatives.

Now You See It; Now You Don't.

Mere man becomes conscious at the outset of a matrimonial career that a split of the pay envelope is the least that will foster family peace. Should the wife become a wage earner equality would suggest a like division. One D. L. Miller of Oakland, Cal., cherished that notion when his wife became a wage earner, and sought his share by "due process of law." The court divorced Mrs. Miller on the spot and pinched the heartless man for the costs.

Annihilating Time.

"Gee, I hate winter," said Smith. "The months are so long and they seem to drag along so slowly." "Why, winter doesn't seem like any time to me," replied Jones. "I make it pass so rapidly that it seems like a few days to me." "How do you do it?" asked Smith. "I sign a ninety-day promissory note every December," explained Jones. "And, first thing I know the note is due."

Its Usual Name.

"What a narrow street that is," said the visitor being shown about the suburban town by a citizen. "Yes; it is narrow," replied the citizen. "And it is in wretched condition. See the holes in the pavement." "Yes; it looks bad." "And dirty everywhere. What is the name of that street?" "That's Grand street,"—Statesman.

Pretty Sure of a Good Day.

Be careful how you start the day. If you insist on being pleasant when it would be only too easy to be disagreeable, if you smile when the unrest of your spirit offers sulky resistance, you are pretty sure to have a good day. Long before noon, the cheeriness you assumed will have taken possession of you, and you will no longer find it necessary to make an effort to smile.—Girl's Companion.

Supt. F. J. Hope made a business trip to Indianapolis today.

LABOR UNREST ALARMS ENGLAND

Nearly All Trades Demanding Either Higher Wages or Shorter Hours, or Both.

London.—The industrial unrest prevalent throughout the country is causing serious anxiety, not only to large employers of labor, but even to conservative labor leaders. The labor leaders taking this attitude include J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the Railwaymen's union, who warned a meeting of postal workers who were demanding a 42-hour week, more holidays and curtailment of night work, that "the industrial and economic position of this country gives cause for alarm."

Demand Shorter Hours.

The postal workers are only one of many trade unions which are demanding shorter hours with the present or better pay. Up to this time the demands of the miners have been embodied in the resolutions of the Southport Miners' Federation, who demanded that the government demobilize all miners in the army and that wages other than war wages be advanced 30 per cent.

The attitude of the miners has caused the most comment, as coal and its price more directly affect the public. It is estimated that to grant a 30 per cent increase in wages would send the price of coal up at least a dollar a ton.

In addition to the miners, the shipbuilders on the Clyde and in other centers are agitating for a 40-hour week, with daily wages of £1. The men engaged in the same industry in Belfast threaten to throw down their tools unless they get a 44-hour week. The carpenters throughout the United Kingdom are asking for a 47-hour week, and the iron molders, who recently got 46 hours, are threatening to strike unless this is lowered to 44 hours.

May Go to Extremes.

The dock laborers are putting forth a demand for 44 hours for day workers and 41 hours for night workers. They are also much agitated over the shortage of beer and the poor quality of that beverage, and during the week there has been much slacking, particularly at Liverpool, from the cause. There has been a temporary shortage of beer at some shipping points due to the strike of brewery employees, who also complain of long hours.

All these unions are strong numerically and well organized, and from the tone of speeches at their meetings the members apparently are prepared to go to extremes in their efforts to have conditions of labor improved along the lines laid down in their resolutions.

There also have been minor troubles in the labor world. One of these affected the crew of the liner Adriatic. The sailing of that vessel for New York with a full list of American passengers has been delayed several days, and there is yet no indication of a settlement.

Jacobean Style

THE Jacobean period is a long one, embracing the reign of four rulers in England. Starting in 1603 and coming to an end with the year 1688, the styles which prevailed were so varied as to make them the hardest to classify and isolate of all periods.

Since there were so many changes during these years, most modern Jacobean furniture is so-called because of embracing perhaps one old characteristic of original Jacobean which has been emphasized or exaggerated in the modern re-creation. As political tendencies changed, so did designing and artistic tendencies changed and for that reason less definite lines may be drawn when describing Jacobean furniture.

The most typical peculiarities of this period however, may be said to be bulbous legs, bun or ball feet turned and spiral or twisted legs, and carvings of a rather intricate nature.

Soldiers' Letters

Chaplain Lindstrom Writes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carter and family have received a letter from Chaplain Walfred Lindstrom, formerly of Seymour, who enlisted for service with the American army last year. He has been in some of the heavy fighting in the Argonne forest and is now in Germany with the army of occupation. He writes:

Vannes, Morbihan, France,
January 2, 1919.

My Dear Carters:

For the last few weeks I have been traveling so constantly that I have not had opportunity of writing to scarcely anyone. But now, I am going to devote an hour or so to having a nice chat with you all. How I wish it might be in Seymour instead of at long distance. It was hard to go through the holiday season and not get a wee bit homesick. I hope the time may not be far distant when I will be able to get back to the good old U. S. A. and I tell you it will look mighty good to me.

I told you I guess that I went to the hospital at Bordeaux along about the beginning of November with rheumatic fever. I was suffering considerably also from a dose of phosgene gas that I got in the Argonne. However I am getting along alright.

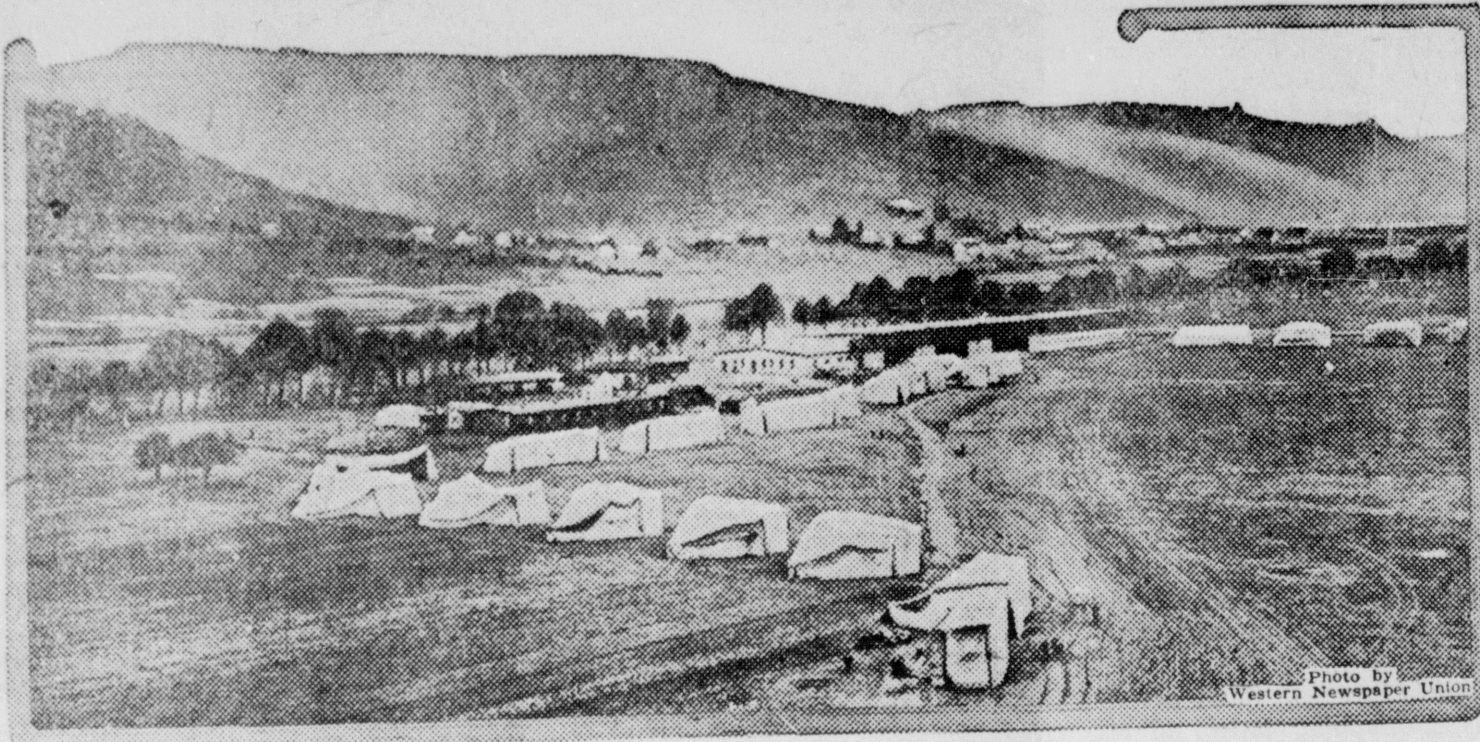

Well, I had orders to report back to my outfit, which is what I wanted to do, but also verbal instructions that when I got there I would find new orders awaiting me. Before I got out of the hospital the armistice was signed and my division began its march toward the Rhine. With all the rest of the Army of Occupation officers, which were on the way to join their various units, I was held at Toul for three weeks awaiting the time when the Army should reach its destination. In due time I was at liberty to go and into Germany I wended my way. My outfit was twenty-eight kilometers the other side of the Rhine, right up close to the neutral territory so I got out to the outposts of the occupied territory where I spent several days. On reaching my outfit I found orders awaiting me to report to Convalescent Camp No. 3, Base Section 1, which instructions I sought to obey. I had one grave disappointment awaiting me when I got to the outfit: I had written twice asking them to hold all my mail until I returned; they didn't get the letters and had sent all my mail to the Central Postoffice. The last letter I had was one from Mrs. L. dated October 9th and since that time which is now nearly three months, I have not had a word from any one in the states; don't know if my loved ones and friends are dead or alive. They told me there had been a great deal of mail for me and it is probably chasing me around France. I will probably get most of it but it will not doubt be some weeks yet before it arrives.

You can imagine how anxious I am to get some word or news from home. Well, I found out that camp No. 3 was at St. Nazaire, a seaport about a hundred miles south of Brest, and thither for the second time in a few days, crossing the country, I set out. When I got there I learned there was a Camp No. 3 there, but when I reported I found it an engineering camp. Taking it up with headquarters I learned my camp was at Savenay, about thirty kilometers inland, to which place I moved my lowly self. I arrived Saturday evening, had supper, stayed all night and had breakfast the next morning. On reading my orders the adjutant said, "Why you don't belong here, you ought to be at Quiberon." The fact was that it was a Convalescent Camp alright but it wasn't number 3. I went back to St. Nazaire and reported to headquarters, when they again looked up the matter and found that my camp had been discontinued. Well, I was a man without a country. Finally I was reassigned to this hospital where I now am.

This unit, No. 136, has only been here about a month and at present we have only a few patients, having shipped out a large number last Monday. I don't know how long this unit will be here. As far as I am personally concerned I hope I will be able to get home in time for Easter. I am at least planning that, but you can't make many plans in the army; just do what you are told, that is about all.

Well, so much for that. I don't know if you are interested in such matter of fact things as the above or not. If you are not, I would suggest that you don't read it. However, for fear you might want to look up this place I will advise you to put your finger on the map of France about fifty kilometers down the coast from Brest, and you will cover our town. It is the capital of the Province of Brittany, a town of about 25,000 inhabitants, and where the women wear quaint little white caps on the top of their heads, many wearing the native costume, and the men wear round felt hats, with a couple of ribbons hanging over the brim. (It is not the little grey bonnet.) The town is antique and very picturesque (pronounced picture-skew).

You might be interested in learning or hearing rather something about some of the places I have seen. I have made a pilgrimage to the birthplace of Joan or Arc. Some day I hope I will be able to tell you more about it for it made a great impression upon me. But the house in which she was born and lived as a peasant girl is still there and as I stepped across the threshold it seemed as if I was walking on holy ground. Across the road is the little church, in which she was baptized as a babe, and where she received her first communion. About a mile and a half from there, I mean a kilometer and a half, there is a most beautiful chapel, built on the spot where the old chestnut tree stood under which she heard the voices asking her to go and raise the siege of Orleans. In this church there is a lower and an upper chapel. In the upper there are six large oil paintings, about 12 by 30 feet in size, showing the six principal scenes of her life from the time she was called to her work until her death. Had I time I would describe those pictures to you but will have to wait until some other time or until I see you all again. I hope some time to be able to tell the people of Seymour some of the things I have seen and experienced. I spent a long time in that place and it made a deep impression on me. The name of the little village is Domremy pronounced like the first three notes of the scale.

I spent nearly a day in the famous French city of Nancy, the city the Kaiser was so anxious to capture. After having told that story of his efforts so many times in Indiana, I was very glad to see the city for myself. I had only a few hours in Metz but wandered about the city somewhat. At Treves, or Trier, as they write it in Germany, I staid all night and the next morning. In this city there is an old arena or amphitheater that is about two thousand years old. In the years 306 and 313 two thousand Christians were thrown before the wild beasts. This was during the time of Constantine, before he had conquered Rome and become a professed Christian. The arena is in a pretty good state of repair and you can imagine the mingled feelings of my heart as I stood there; the lines of the old hymn sprang to my lips:

"Faith of our fathers living still,
In spite of dungeon, fire and sword."
Near this place is the ruins of an ancient castle which belonged to Constantine's mother and in which he lived.

The scene along the Moselle River from Treves to Coblenz is most magnificent, great hills and crags of stone, the sides of which, clear to the peaks are covered with vineyards. It is the great wine center of Germany. These hills are slate, which absorbs the heat of the sun by day and thus keeps the roots of the vines warm at night. Some places the soil is so thin that they have to carry dirt to cover the slate. This dirt is carried in large baskets which are made to fit one's back, from the road below to the farm above. Just think of buying a farm and then carry dirt on your back to cover it. Many of these hills are so steep that they have to be terraced and they go from one field to the other by means of stone steps or ladders.

I found Coblenz a very fine city with beautiful store windows. I staid there all night in a very beautiful hotel on the banks of the Rhine and ate breakfast the next morning sitting opposite a large window looking out over the river. Little did I think when I left the good old U. S. in July that I would be eating breakfast December 20th on the banks of the Rhine. But so it goes. I wouldn't have missed my trip into Germany for a great deal.

I presume you had a splendid holiday time. Certainly Christmas this year was a time of great rejoicing or at least offered occasion for it. I was in Paris until the afternoon of Christmas and spent the night at Tours. Yesterday was a quiet day here and I haven't done very much, since I arrived last Monday, but I hope soon to get a line on things and get busy as far as my strength will allow.

Remember me to all inquiring friends, with my very best to you all, and hoping I can see you all this summer, I am,

Sincerely your friend,

Walfred Lindstrom.

Soldier Letter.

Mr. and Mrs. August Cordes have received the following letter from their son 1st Lieut. P. L. Cordes, who is stationed in France:

Brest, France.

January 26, 1919.

Dear Folks:

Received your letters of Nov. 5 and Dec. 9 today and yesterday I received your letter of January 8. It was just a month to the day that I got an answer from my letter of Christmas night. I was sure glad to get some recent news from home and to know that everybody was all right.

Now in one of your letters you said you were sending me the Republican, send me the Weekly and give them my address. As yet I have not received any papers from you and not half my mail. I guess I never will get the Christmas packages but I guess I will be here for some time and all my mail addressed to this address will eventually get to me.

I saw in the New York Herald Paris edition that the weather man in Michigan was crazy it must be catching as we have had three days of bright sunshine and now rain again. Today we have our usual weather of a dark rainy sort. In 1918 they only had 218 days of rain, that is it rained on 218 days of the 365 in the year; in Brest.

Well I hardly know what to write about so will close for today. I am well and hope you are the same.

With love to all,

Phil.

DISCUSSES PLANS OF ORGANIZATION

nor accomplish very much without the other. The program of work may be outlined in several ways by an imitation of others who have been successful, by experimenting, although this is an expensive method, by research and study of plans used elsewhere, or by going direct to someone with experience and securing their assistance in putting a plan in operation. Efficient management is necessary to make the best use of the capital consisting of men and money and to carry out the program of work which is outlined.

Mr. McKeand indicated that there is only one practical form of organization for a Chamber of Commerce. That is the departmental or divisional form. There should be three natural departments into which the work will be divided. One of these has to do with maintaining the organization itself, another has to do with public affairs such as sewerage, lights, water and other public utilities. The third has to do with business affairs directly. The departmental organization definitely acts on committees appointed for specific purposes the responsibility for carrying out the work assigned to them. Only by pulling together can the largest results be accomplished.

The meeting was well attended, the council chamber being filled with men interested in the new organization. The President, C. H. Weithoff, called the meeting to order and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary, Albert H. Walters. After the roll call the secretary reported a number of amendments to the constitution which were proposed by the board of directors. These amendments will take the regular course and will be brought up for final action at the next meeting.

On motion of M. S. Blish Oscar E. Carter was authorized to invite officially the meeting of the Indiana dairy show for next fall for Seymour. Mr. Carter is a member of the executive board of the state dairy organization and expects to attend a meeting to be held in the next few days. This show was to have been held here last fall but on account of the influenza epidemic a ban was placed on all public meetings. The business men of Seymour had incurred considerable expense preparing for the meeting and they feel that it is only just that the meeting should be held here next fall.

The matter of completing the roads leading into Seymour which are under contract was discussed by G. C. Borchering, Attorney Thomas M. Honan made a statement that the commissioners are doing everything possible to have the roads completed, and that they are just as anxious as Seymour is to have the roads finished.

Before the Chamber of Commerce met the Retail Merchants' Association of Seymour held a meeting at which they decided to affiliate with the Chamber of Commerce as the Retail Department. They authorized the appointment of a governing board of retail merchants who shall have authority to act for the Merchants' Association under their present by-laws in all matters affecting the interest of the merchants, to call meetings of the retail department whenever advisable for matters which do not affect the Chamber of Commerce as a whole.

CONFERENCE IS HELD TO DISCUSS PURDUE'S CLAIM

University Recently Given A Decision In Favor of $700,000 Appropriation.

By United Press
Indianapolis, February 14.—The second conference between Gov. Goodrich and other state officials with trustees of Purdue university in an attempt to settle the university's claim for $700,000 from the state, was held today. The Purdue trustees were understood to be prepared to insist on payment of the full amount.

The claim is based on a recent supreme court decision which ruled that Purdue was entitled to statutory appropriations in addition to the regular tax levy. These funds are payable from the general fund of the state and not from the specific.

As the state has withheld payment of these sums for several years, while the litigation was being carried on, the amount has greatly increased each year and the governor believes that to compel payment of the entire fund now would be an unjust burden on the taxpayers.

Included in the special appropriations which are due to Purdue under the court's decision are: $75,000 yearly to the experiment station; $50,000 yearly to the extension department; $50,000 for a green house.

The trustees believe that the work of the university would be hampered if the full amount is not received from the state.

Harry F. McColgin went to Ft. Wayne today to attend the Central Electric Accounting conference. He is the accountant for the I. & L. Traction Railway Company.

BASKET BALL MEETS NORTH VERNON TONIGHT

Locals Feel Certain of Victory—Schedule of Remaining Games For the Season.

The local high school basket ball team departed this afternoon with a bunch of enthusiasts for North Vernon where they will play the high school of that town tonight. North Vernon greeted Seymour at the opening game of the season but was badly defeated 38 to 17 on the local floor. The Boy Scout quintet of this city accompanied the locals and are scheduled to play a curtain raiser with the North Vernon scouts.

The game tonight is followed by a heavy schedule closing the local basket ball season. S. H. S. has lost but two games this season, with the Washington and New Albany teams, of the ten that have been played. The locals are proud of this record and are working hard to win the remaining games.

The remaining schedule is as follows: Feb. 19—Columbus at Seymour; Feb. 21—Seymour at New Albany; Feb. 22—Madison at Seymour; Feb. 28—Seymour at Madison. March 7-8, S. H. S. will be well represented when the locals clash for district honors at Columbus. Columbus expects to win and frankly state that S. H. S., to best of their knowledge, will play the final game. The winners of the district meets of the state will gather at Lafayette, March 14-15, to complete for the "state honors" and locals expect to be among them.

Harry Waterbury, who has been stationed on the U. S. S. Minnesota, is visiting relatives here. Seaman Waterbury enlisted in July and received his honorable discharge this week at Great Lakes, Ills. He has re-enlisted for four years and will report for duty about March 14th.

Misses Edna and Frances Downs went to North Vernon this morning to attend the basket ball game.

FINE TONIC FOR WOMEN

Is What This Lady Thinks About Cardui. It Made Her Well.

Springfield, Mo.—Mrs. Alice Fletcher, of this address, writes: "I cannot say too much in praise of Cardui, it has done so much for me. Shortly after my marriage, 14 years ago, I suffered terribly...with my back pain, and my limbs pained me so bad. And also I had such awful bearing-down pains, and I became very weak and could not hardly do my work...."

I went to my sister-in-law and she told me to get Cardui. So I took one bottle and it helped me so much, I got another bottle, and by the time I had taken the two bottles I was a well woman. I have never been troubled any more...I keep Cardui in my home...for I think it is a fine tonic for a woman raising a family.

I always take one or two bottles before and after my...for it strengthens me so, and has such good effects on my nervous system."

Weak women, worn out with the work and care of the home, need a tonic, strength-building medicine, like Cardui, the woman's tonic. NCB-9

FLOWER OF FRANCE

FREELY OFFERED FOR FREEDOM'S SAKE

Six millions of the youth and chivalry of France have been offered that Freedom might live. The world will ever remember this heroic sacrifice and outpouring of the blood of its youth. It is likewise not unkind of the great service to the world rendered by the French peasants who have given it a perfect remedy for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, relieving, it is said, incalculable suffering, saving thousands of lives and preventing innumerable surgical operations. The ingredients are imported and placed on sale in this country over the name of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy by Geo. H. Mayr, a leading Chicago chemist. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by Druggists everywhere.

O'Reilly looked upward, inquiring, sharply, "What's the matter?" He heard a scuffling of feet above him, but received no answer. "Rosa! What frightened you? Rosa!" There was a moment of sickening suspense, then he put his shoulder to the timbers he had displaced and, with a violent shove, succeeded in swinging them back into place. Laying hold of the rope, he began to hoist himself upward. He had gone but a little way, however, when, without warning, his support gave way and he fell backward; the rope came pouring down upon him. "Rosa!" he called again in a voice thick with fright. Followed an instant of silence; then he flattened himself against the side of the well and the breath stuck in his throat.

Into the dim circle of radiance above a head was thrust—a head, a pair of wide shoulders, and then two arms. The figure bent closer, and O'Reilly recognized the swarthy features of that man he had seen at the Matanzas railroad station. There could be no doubt of it—it was Cobo.

The men stared at each other silently, and of the two Cobo appeared to be the more intensely agitated. After a moment his gaze fixed itself upon the opening into the treasure chamber and remained there. As if to make entirely sure of what he had overheard, he stretched his body farther, supporting it by his outflung arms, then moved his head from side to side for a better view. He seemed to rock over the mouth of the well like a huge, fat, black spider. He was the first to speak. "Am I dreaming? Or—have you really discovered that treasure?" he queried.

O'Reilly's upturned face was ghastly. He wet his lips. He managed to whisper Rosa's name. "The riches of the Varonas! What a find!" Cobo's teeth shone white in the grin of avarice. "Yes, I see now—a cavern in the rock. Well, well! And you are the spirit of Sebastian, chained in the bowels of La Cumbre. Ha! These are the ghosts—" He began to chuckle, but the sound of his malevolent merriment was like the hiccupping of a drunken man.

"Rosa! What have you done—" Cobo ran on unheeding: "It must be a great treasure, indeed, from all accounts—the ransom of a dozen kings. That's what Cueto said, 'The ransom of a dozen kings.' Those were his very words."

The fellow continued to sway himself back and forth, peering as if his eyes were about to leave his head. For a long moment or two he utterly disregarded O'Reilly, but finally as he gained more self-control his gaze shifted and his expression altered. He changed his weight to his left arm and with his right hand he drew his revolver.

"What are you doing?" O'Reilly cried, hoarsely.

The colonel seemed vaguely surprised at this question. "Fool! Do you expect me to share it with you?" he inquired.

"Wait! There's enough—for all of us," O'Reilly feebly protested; then, as he heard the click of the cocked weapon: "Let me out. I'll pay you well—make you rich." In desperation he raised his shaking hand to dash out the candle, but even as he did so the colonel spoke, at the same time carefully lowering the revolver hammer.

"You are right. What am I thinking about? There must be no noise. Caramba! A pretty business that would be, wouldn't it? With my men running up here to see what it was all about. No, no! No gunshots, no disturbance of any kind. You understand what I mean, eh?"

His face twisted into a grin as he tossed the revolver aside, then undertook to detach a stone from the crumbling curb. "No noise!" he chuckled. "No noise whatever."

O'Reilly, stupefied by the sudden appearance of this monstrous creature, stunned by the certainty of a catastrophe to Rosa, awoke to the fact that this man intended to brain him where he stood. In a panic he cast his eyes about him, thinking to take shelter in the treasure-cave, but that retreat was closed to him, for he had wedged the wooden timbers together at the first alarm. He was like a rat in a pit, utterly at the mercy of this maniac. And Cobo was a maniac at the moment; he had so far lost control of himself as to allow the stone to slip out of his grasp. It fell with a thud at O'Reilly's feet, causing the assassin to laugh once more.

"Ho, ho!" he hiccupped. "My fingers are clumsy, eh? But there is no need for haste." He stretched out his arm again, laid hold of another missile, and strained to loosen it from its bed. "Jewels! Pearls the size of plums! And I a poor man! I can't believe it yet." He could not detach the stone, so he fumbled farther along the curbing. "Pearls, indeed! I would send a dozen men to hell for one—"

O'Reilly had been standing petrified, his body forced tightly against the rough surface behind him, following with strained fascination the deliberate movements of the man above him; now he saw Cobo, without the least apparent reason, twist and shudder, saw him stiffen rigidly as if seized with a sudden cramp, saw his eyes dilate and heard him heave a deep, whistling sigh. O'Reilly could not imagine what ailed the fellow. For an eternity, so it seemed, Cobo remained leaning upon his outspread arms, fixed in that same attitude of paralysis—it looked almost

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

Exodus 20:1-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Luke 10:27.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Ex. 19: Lev. 19:11-18, 32-37; Matt. 5:17-48. PRIMARY TOPIC—God gives his commandments to Moses. Memory Verses—I John 4:8; Luke 10:27. JUNIOR TOPIC—Giving commandments to the people. Memory Verses—Matt. 22:37-40. INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Jesus and the ten commandments. SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The commandments in modern life.

The ten commandments furnish us the world's greatest moral code.

I. The First Commandment (20:3). "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." Means literally, "Thou shalt have no other gods before my face." This commandment enjoins the obligation of single-hearted worship and service. It may be broken by (1) living for one's self. If life's activities center in self then one is an idolater. (2) Making pleasure the goal of living. (3) Being covetous (Col. 3:5). Every one who is greedy for gold is an idolater. (4) Actually worshipping idols.

II. The Second Commandment (20:4-6).

While the first commandment is directed against false gods, the second is directed against the worship of the true God under false forms. It can be broken by (1) the use of images in worship; (2) putting sinful man in the place of Christ; (3) putting God's ordinances and institutions in the place which he alone should have.

III. The Third Commandment (20:7).

The Hebrew word "vain" translated means lying, deceptive, unreal. "Guileless" is from the word meaning clean, unpunished. The meaning is that God will not hold to be clean and will not allow to go unpunished him who uses his name in a lying, hypocritical manner. This commandment may be broken by (1) profanity, (2) perjury, (3) levity and frivolity, (4) hypocrisy, which is professing to live for God yet living for self.

IV. The Fourth Commandment (20:8-11).

The command to work six days is as binding as to rest on the seventh. The resting one day in seven applies to servants and horses as well as to the man and his family. This commandment may be broken by (1) living in idleness, (2) working on the day set apart for the worship of God, (3) engaging in carnal pleasures on the Lord's day.

V. The Fifth Commandment (20:12).

This commandment rests upon the fact that parents stand to their children in the place of God. It may be violated by (1) disrespect to parents, (2) disobedience, (3) failure to give proper care in old age.

VI. The Sixth Commandment (20:13).

The sanctity of human life is due to the fact that man was created in the likeness and image of God. This commandment may be broken by (1) sinful anger (Matt. 5:22), (2) hatred (1 John 3:15), (3) neglect of means to preserve life, (4) oppression of the weak, (5) suicide, (6) infanticide (7) unrighteous wars.

VII. The Seventh Commandment (20:14).

The sin which strikes at the home is most deadly, for it undermines the whole human fabric. It may be broken by (1) unclean imaginations, thoughts, and affections (Matt. 15:19; 5:27, 28), (2) unchaste conversation and wanton looks (Isa. 3:16; 2 Peter 2:14), (3) divorce, which is for the most part legalized adultery.

VIII. The Eighth Commandment (20:15).

This strikes at the sin of theft. Many things are legally right but morally wrong. This commandment may be broken by (1) taking what belongs to another, (2) false weights and measures, (3) extortion, (4) usury, (5) "graft," (6) making assignments to escape payment of debts.

IX. The Ninth Commandment (20:16).

The unflinching test of a man's religion is the use he makes of his tongue (James 1:26; 3:2-8). This commandment may be broken by (1) open lying, (2) perjury, (3) slander, (4) talebearing, (5) breach of promise, (6) withholding truth, (7) flattery.

X. The Tenth Commandment (20:17).

This commandment strikes at the desire for things which belong to another. It applies not merely to the open violation, but to the very purpose of the heart.

Lesson for Sunday, February 23.

The Breach of the Covenant and Moses' Prayer for Israel. Exodus 32:1-34:9.

as if he had been startled by some sound close by. But manifestly that was not the cause of his hesitation, for his face became convulsed and an expression of blank and utter astonishment was stamped upon it. The men stared fixedly at each other. O'Reilly with his head thrown back, Cobo with his body propped rigidly upon wooden arms and that peculiar shocked inquiry in his glaring eyes. But slowly this expression changed; the colonel bent as if beneath a great weight, his head rose and turned back upon his neck, he filled his lungs with another wheezing sigh. His teeth ground together, his head began to wag upon his shoulders; it dropped lower and lower; one hand slipped from its hold and he lurched forward. An instant he hung suspended from the waist; then he appeared to let go limply as all resistance went out of his body. There came a warning rattle of dirt and mortar and pebbles; the next instant he slipped into the well and plunged headlong down upon O'Reilly, an avalanche of lifeless flesh.

Johnnie shielded himself with his upflung arms, but he was driven to his knees, and when he scrambled to his feet, half stunned, it was to find himself in utter darkness. There was a heavy weight against his legs. With a strength born of horror and revulsion he freed himself; then hearing no sound and feeling no movement, he fumbled for the candle and with clumsy fingers managed to relight it. Even after the flame had leaped out and he saw what shared the pit with him he could barely credit his senses. The nature of his deliverance was uncanny, supernatural—it left him dazed. He had beheld death stamped upon Cobo's writhing face even while the fellow braced himself to keep from falling, but what force had effected the phenomenon, what unseen hand had stricken him, Johnnie was at a loss to comprehend. It seemed a miracle, indeed, until he looked closer. Then he understood. Cobo lay in a formless, boneless heap; he seemed to be all arms and legs; his face was hidden, but between his shoulders there protruded the crude wooden handle of a homemade knife to which a loop of cord was tied.

O'Reilly stared stupidly at the weapon; then he raised his eyes, peering down at him out of the night was another face, an impertinent, beardless, youthful face.

He uttered Jacket's name, and the boy answered with a smile. "Bring my knife with you when you come," the latter directed.

"You!" The American's voice was weak and shaky. "I thought—" He set the candle down and covered his eyes momentarily.

"That's a good knife, all right, and sharp, too. The fellow died in a hurry, eh? Who does he happen to be?"

"Don't you know? It—it's Cobo."

"Cobo! Cobo, the baby-killer!" Jacket breathed an oath. "Oh, that blessed knife!" The boy craned his small body forward until he was in danger of following his victim. "Now, this is good luck indeed! And to think that he died just like any other man."

"Rosa! Where is she?" O'Reilly inquired in a new agony of apprehension. "Oh, she is here," Jacket assured him, carelessly. "I think she has fainted."

"Help me out, quick! Here, catch this rope." Johnnie managed to fling the coil within reach of his little friend and a moment later he had hoisted himself from that pit of tragedy.

RADIO SIGNALS ARE SENT UNDERSEA

Device Made Communication Through Water and Beneath the Ground Possible.

Washington.—How underground and through-water wireless was put into practical use during the war was disclosed by navy department officials, giving to the public another of its secrets, carefully guarded so long as it might be of value to the enemy. Government officials regard this development, originated in private research by James H. Rogers, a scientist of Hyattsville, Md., as one of the war's major scientific advances of the kind.

In practical use the new system so far is employed only for receiving. Radio messages sent out from powerful stations in Europe are now being read at underground receiving stations in the United States and in some cases, better than when caught by the elaborate and expensive air stations.

Got Signals Under Waves.

In addition, it was revealed at the department, through an adaptation of the Rogers theory, submarines under water are intercepting radio signals sent from shore and with crude apparatus. The scientist has succeeded in transmitting signals two miles from a submerged wire simulating a submersible. Officials say it is possible, though not yet an accomplished fact, that ground or water sending can be developed to a considerable extent. They do not anticipate, however, that the present method of sending from high towers will be superseded except for limited special purposes.

The theory most generally held until Rogers demonstrated the correctness of his views, was that impulses hurled into the air from a radio transmitting station and deflected earthward became dissipated, as does lightning, when they struck the ground or water.

The Maryland scientist, however, believed that the impulses flowed through the earth as through the air and that it was only necessary to trap and measure them in the ground. He had been at work on this theory before the United States entered the war and already had interested naval experts. He offered the results of his work to the navy without restriction, and when they were accepted after some demonstrations at Hyattsville, officials say, he was with difficulty persuaded to accept even remuneration for actual time given to co-operation with the government.

One of the first steps taken was the request of the navy department, under war legislation, that his application for patents be expedited. This was done.

Main Advantages.

Some of the main advantages of the Rogers system as developed so far, according to experts, are almost negligible cost of construction, the intensifying of signals by pointing the sending apparatus toward the receiving station and reduction of static interference. Because of the latter advantage, the navy's receiving station at New Orleans, where communication with ships in Southern waters swept by frequent electrical storms is maintained, uses the underground apparatus with marked success.

In war a great advantage is that submarines receive messages while submerged. This is being done by wires trailing in the water.

The Rogers development aroused electrical experts of the government to new efforts to expand and improve radio transmission facilities. Out of the experimental work done with this and other ideas steady advance has been made under war pressure and Rogers' theories are interwoven with those of other men in the results that are being obtained.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon spent the day in Cincinnati.

WEAKNESS REMAINS LONG AFTER

Influenza

Reports Show That Strength, Energy and Ambition Return Very Slowly to Grippe Patients.

After an attack of influenza, doctors advise that nature be assisted in its building-up process by the use of a good tonic—one that will not only put strength and endurance into the body, but will also help to build up and strengthen the run-down cells of the brain.

One of the most highly recommended remedies to put energy into both body and brain is Bio-feren—your physician knows the formula—it is printed below.

There's iron in Bio-feren—the kind of iron that makes red blood corpuscles and creates vigor. There is lecithin also; probably the best brain invigorator known to science. Then there is good old reliable gentian, that brings back your lagging appetite.

There are other ingredients that help to promote good health, as you can see by reading this formula, not forgetting kolo, that great agent that puts the power of endurance into weak people.

Taken altogether Bio-feren is a splendid active tonic that will greatly help any weak, run-down person to regain normal strength, energy, ambition and endurance.

Bio-feren is sold by all reliable druggists and is inexpensive. For weakness after influenza patients are advised to take two tablets after each meal and one at bed time—seven a day, until health, strength and vigor are fully restored.

It will not fail to help you and if for any reason you are dissatisfied with results your druggist is authorized to return your money upon request—without any red tape of any kind.

Note to physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren, it is printed on every package. Here it is: Lecithin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Peptonate, Manganese Peptonate, Ext. Nux. Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Olearsin Capsicum, Kolo.

DISCUSS STRIKE

Carpenters and Joiners Take Up the Proposition.

By United Press.

New York, February 14.—The executive council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners met here today to decide whether a sympathetic strike of thirty building trades shall be called to aid carpenters of the Building Trades Employers' Association in their demands for a dollar a day increase.

Negotiations between the strikers and the employers failed to effect a compromise. According to William Hutchinson, president of the carpenters' union, demands for an increase of a dollar a day met with no response from the employers.

Miss Myra Laupus, history teacher at the local high school, has resigned her position on the faculty and Miss Kathryn Hancock, of this city will take charge of all her classes Monday.

Recognition of a Rare Opportunity

MANY people in Seymour and the surrounding communities are making inquiries about the Profit Sharing Plan inaugurated by the Seymour Business College for the five month's term beginning March 1. Are you one of them? You want to take a commercial and business training course. The opportunities are unlimited.

You Decide to Improve Your Position.
We Will Train You.

The Profit Sharing Plan will greatly reduce the cost of training.

The Plan

We will share our profits with you by allowing one per cent. reduction in the regular tuition fee for each student up to twenty-five who enrolls. If twenty-five or more students enroll in the profit sharing class each will receive a twenty-five per cent. discount in tuition. If twenty enroll each will get a twenty per cent. discount, if eighteen enroll, eighteen per cent. discount will be given each, if fifteen enroll, fifteen per cent. discount, etc.

A special five percent. discount will be given to the first twenty-five students who enroll. Part of this quota is already made up.

Don't Delay. This is Your Opportunity.

NOTHING IS WORTHLESS

It Is Said That Even Rotten Eggs Attract Wild Animals.

"Thar ain't nothin' in the world but is good for somethin'," is one of the favorite sayings of Jim Buckley of Bear Lake, Alberta.

Buckley is a thrifty soul. He farms in summer and traps in winter and between wheat and furs he is growing rich. One morning while his wife was cooking breakfast she broke a rotten egg into a skillet and was starting toward the door to throw it away when Buckley stopped her.

"Woman, don't throw that egg away," said Buckley.

"But it's rotten," protested his wife. "Makes no difference," declared the philosopher. "Thar ain't nothin' in the world but—"

"James Buckley," exclaimed his wife, "I've heard that a thousand times."

The wolf never sniffs at the doors of the prosperous farmers of the Peace river country. But foxes are different animals and—here is something you don't know—rotten eggs are rated as an epicurean tidbit in vulpine menus.
